REDROCK International

Marble Run

Everyone builds one 35-metre chain-reaction machine that has to run start to finish.

Different teams work together to build a 35-metre chain-reaction machine. It has to run from start to finish without anyone touching it.

Duration
2–3 hours

Setting
Indoor or outdoor

Participants
60–500+

How it works

1

Teams and sections

The group splits into teams, and each team builds one section of the Marble Run.

2

Build the contraptions

Teams build a series of contraptions and mechanisms that trigger one after the other.

3

Connect

Teams coordinate so that every section links smoothly into the next.

4

The final run

The marble is released, and the whole machine must run on its own with no help.

What Marble Run develops in your team

In every Red Rock team build

- Teamwork and collaboration
- Relationships and trust
- Communication

Marble Run also develops

Cross-department working
Each team's section must connect perfectly with its neighbours.

Problem solving
Teams test runs, find where the marbles stop and fix the flow.

Shared vision and values
The whole group works towards one moment: the final run.

Trainer-led review

Marble Run ends with a review led by our trainers. We agree the focus with you beforehand and build the review around it.

Teams talk through what happened, link it to how they work together day to day, and agree what they will do differently back at work.

We can also organise

- Venue
- Catering
- Travel
- Branding
- Giveaways
